The Colonnade

Foreword

Today is the day upon which you, the Class of '44, walk toward life and the world. Life, perched upon its pedestal of fame and fortune, and the world, burning today, hopefully glittering tomorrow, may hold a struggle for you, that will test your worth as a man of faith and principles. It is then, when your trial in life comes before you, that these pages of memories of your last year at McBride may hope to remind you of your accomplishments and your aspirations, and urge you to continue the life you have started so well.

Dedication

To the memory of the nineteen valiant graduates of McBride who have already made the Supreme Sacrifice in the war which is scourging the earth, we the graduating class of McBride High School, having before our minds their heroism in protecting our rights and liberties, do sincerely and graciously dedicate this our yearbook.

Because of their courage and sacrifice we may yet enjoy freedom from want and fear, freedom of religion and the press, the Four Freedoms for which members of the Armed Forces are fighting and dying. Well over a thousand other McBride graduates in service are carrying on to completion the work these have so nobly begun.

His Excellency

JOHN JOSEPH GLENNON, D.D.

Archbishop of St. Louis

Words can never repay His Excellency for his personal interest and sympathetic cooperation in our school acitivities. Our debt is so great; our faculty of recompense, so small. It was Archbishop Glennon who launched the Catholic High School Association of St. Louis, and it is he who is reflected in the result.

Monsignor

ALFRED G. THOMSON,

Superintendent

To successfully direct the schools in the Catholic High School Association, it is imperative for the director to possess the untiring energy and devotion to duty that Monsignor Thomson has always shown. This is no small matter, for the Association now includes William Cullen McBride, Rosati-Kain, South Side and North Side Catholic High Schools.

Memories

There are many things in the world today that detract from man's happiness, but all else being lost, his most precious possessions, his memories, stay with him till his dying day. Little things . . . a smile, a frown, prosaic happenings, are recalled vividly by these "daydreams."

Memories of . . . last-minute cramming for a test . . . unsuccessfully alibiing your way out of an assignment . . . Brother calling on you when you were daydreaming about the date you were going to take to the prom . . . sleepily trudging to your homeroom at 8:59 after a "bad night" . . . getting pretzels and candy from "Pop" . . . the enchanting odor of McBride's well-known hamburgers . . . the drinking fountain gurgling cheerfully, giving you the strength to "carry on" to the next course . . . the buzzer disturbing your peaceful snooze during a dull lecture . . . the time you gave "Joe" that hotfoot, only to discover Brother staring disapprovingly at you when you straightened up . . . waiting for your "cue" to go on stage during a play . . . the day the team won that close track meet, basketball, football, or softball game . . . the feeling you had when you walked up, dressed in your gown, to receive your diploma.

Yes, we are leaving, McBride, but we will never forget you.

Bro. HENRY RINGKAMP, S.M., Principal

Inspiring leadership is one of the prime requisites for a principal. Brother Henry Ringkamp has more than filled the bill in this regard. His untiring efforts in behalf of the student body will long be remembered. Although he came to McBride in 1943, Brother Henry has already left an indelible impression on the school and students.

TO THE GRADUATES OF THE CLASS OF 1944:

After four years of the daily commonplace of attending school, you have reached the goal of your hopes, graduation from McBride High School. Congratulations! You have done well, and merit full praise in your accomplishment.

During these years you have met fellow-students and teachers, worked with them, played with them, and studied with them. You should and no doubt do treasure many friendships and will recall memories of events which happened here.

Tomorrow you will be face to face with a world at war. Then, if ever, the Christian principles taught you here will have to be depended on, lived up to. The Armed Services will claim a good number of you, to fight your country's battles on the land, in the air, on and under the sea. To you I commend the memory of the nineteen McBride graduates who have given their "last full measure of devotion" to our country's cause. Their sacrifice should be an inspiration to you to carry on in the same famous McBride spirit.

Farewell then, graduates. Go out from McBride with high hopes in your ability to do well. Confide your every problem in Mary, Mother of Perpetual Help. She will sustain and direct you to God's eternal kingdom.

Bro. Henry C. Ringkamp, S.M.

The Colonnade

BRO. CLARENCE SAUNDERS, S.M.

As vice-principal, librarian, and faculty adviser of the Student Council, Brother Clarence exercises an influence on the everyday life of all McBride students. Through his government course, he teaches in theory what he practices with the student government.

BRO. CHARLES SONTAG, S.M.

System, the one quality which is so necessary in the keeping of any financial records, must be present in the school's records as well. Brother Charles' bookkeeping classes indicate this presence. This system plus his busines-like manner makes him an ideal school treasurer.

School Administrators

FATHER ROBERT HOGAN, S.M.

McBride's truant officer. Here's the man who keeps the books which show how often you've been A.W.O.L. Father Hogan rules in the office with an iron hand and conducts a senior typing class, besides freshman Latin.

FATHER VALENTINE BRAUN, S.M.

Father Braun has kept his hand on the spiritual pulse of the school for two years with great success. He has shown a special interest in the senior class through the formation of the Marianist Club. He conducts courses in senior Religion, freshman Latin, and World History.

Senior Faculty

BRO. ANDREW CREMER, S.M.

To graduate from McBride and not have been taught English by Brother Andrew is like going to New York and not seeing the Empire State Building. Besides being homeroom prelate of 102 he was faculty adviser to the Colonnade.

BRO. FRANK GUTTING, S.M.

Maintaining the best physics lab in the city has been a hobby with Brother Frank, who took time off from instructing Physics and Trig to coach our varsity football team.

BRO. FRANCIS MUELLER, S.M.

Hats off to Brother Mueller, director of the McBride Glee Club which has just achieved a superior rating. He is titular head of 107 and teaches seniors religion and German.

BRO. FRANK BISCHOF, S.M.

Dynamic, forceful, enthusiastic, Brother Frank has a knack of putting over anything he tries. Senior physics, a trig course and the Senior Play have all been marked with success under his "go-getting" direction.

BRO. ALOYSIUS BLUME, S.M.

A one-hundred per cent economist is the McBride senior who has been under the tutelage of Bro. Blume. He is best known in extra curricular activities for his oratory champions.

BRO. EUGENE JANSON, S.M.

Sociology, economics, American history, and Religion classes would just about take all day, but Brother Eugene found time to handle senior play and Kornzapoppin tickets and set the stage for various programs and assemblies.

BRO. THEODORE KAUSS, S.M.

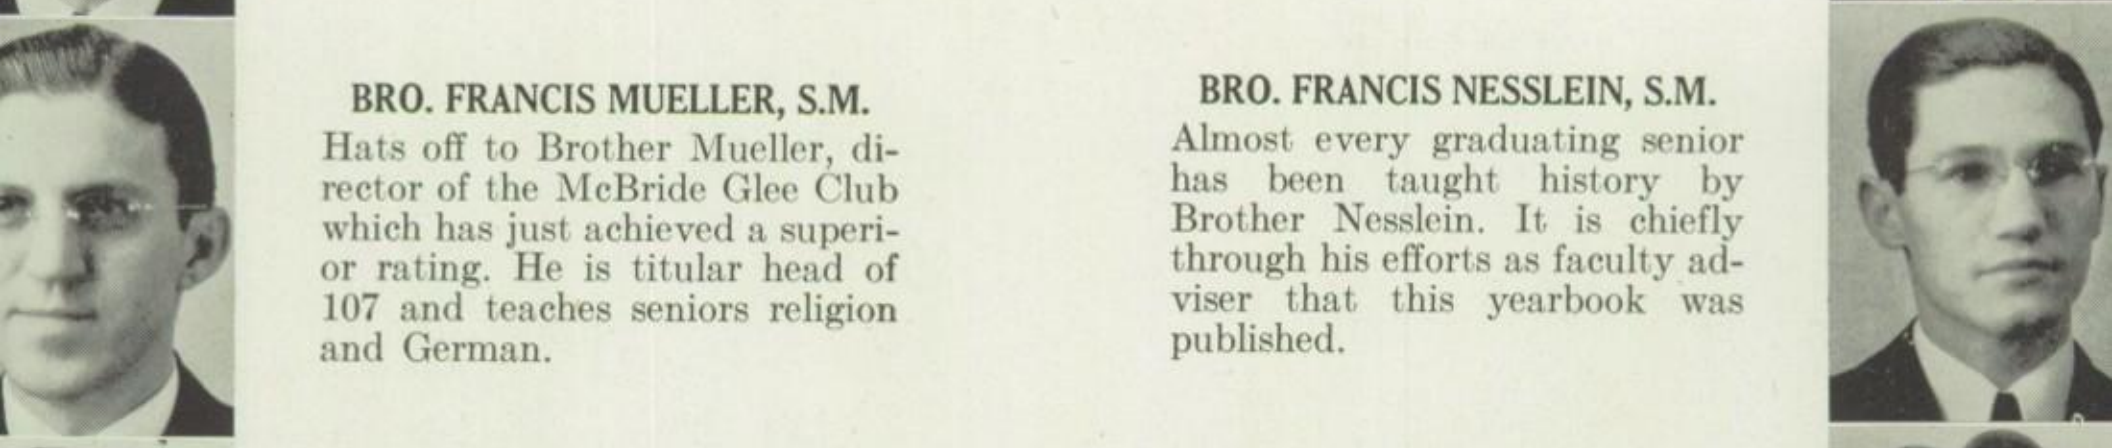
The typing room under Brother Kauss set as its goal neatness and correctness and it has reached it. Apart from teaching typing and shorthand Brother is the Fathers' Club faculty adviser.

BRO. FRANCIS MEYER, S.M.

Fifty-five years of teaching have given Brother Meyer a desire for perfection in his bookkeeping classes. Many an office manager today can look back to Brother Francis for his start.

BRO. RALPH MOLNAR, S.M.

Although only in his first year at McBride Brother's classes in Senior English and second year Spanish have already made him well known to the seniors.



BRO. FRANCIS NESSLEIN, S.M.

Almost every graduating senior has been taught history by Brother Nesslein. It is chiefly through his efforts as faculty adviser that this yearbook was published.

BRO. LEO ROTHERMICH, S.M.

Latina is a beautiful language but when senior Latin of 104 is in session Brother Leo suffers in silence and corrects his five charges again and again. He also directed intramural basketball and softball.

BRO. THEODORE SZYDLOWSKI, S.M.

Dictating shorthand to seniors is Brother's only relation with that class this year. However, many have encountered him in general science and chemistry of previous years.

BRO. FRED WEISBRUCH, S.M.

Although having only one senior algebra class Brother is well remembered by many seniors who waded through junior chemistry with him.

School Activities

The field of a McBride education stretches beyond the ordinary limits of a classsroom. It embraces a complete list of extra-curricular and athletic activities. Knowledge gained in the classroom is diligently applied to practical experiences in these activities. They help to round out the personality of the student by providing him with various experiences that will aid him in attaining success in his future work. They are a fitting supplement to the strictly intellectual training received from his books.

Extra-Curriculars

McBride offers a wide range of extra-curricular activities, lending opportunity to various kinds of talents and skills and interests. They pertain to speech, drama, music, composition, religion, etc. In offering this variety the school invites all students to take part in several, or at least one, activity. As an incentive to such participation and as recognition of work well done, the school offers pins as a reward. The three-star pin is the highest award, followed by the two-star, one-star, and plain pin.

Athletics

Moulding a sound body while developing a quick, alert, and keen mind, along with sociability and good sportsmanship, is the object of athletics at McBride. School teams have learned how to glory in victories and how to submit to ignominious defeat. Besides the varsity squads, there are minor teams for the underclassmen, according to their age and ability. In addition, the school is proud of its intramural program which offers every boy, regardless of size or aptitude, the opportunity of athletic participation.

The pages that follow serve to unveil to all the various activities pursued at McBride. In addition, for those who participated in these activities, these pages will serve as a reminder of happy days well spent at school.

Student Council

The Student Council of McBride High School, counseled by Brother Clarence Saunders, began the 1943-44 school year under the guidance of President James Eagan. As his assistants were: William Geary, Vice-President; John Delabar, Secretary; and Edward Cronin, Treasurer. The administration was launched by an autumn skating party, which very many encouraging skating enthusiasts attended. Smoking permits were again issued to seniors, a senior barn social met with approval, and through the cooperation of the Council with the student body, the quota of the war and stamp sales was greatly exceeded, amounting to approximately $500,000.

The mid-year elections witnessed the seating of Jerry Duff in the presidential chair. William Geary and John Delabar were re-elected, and Robert Horgan assumed the office of treasurer. The new administration sponsored a successful winter social, and appointed a special Constitutional Committee to study a plan calling for a more direct and centralized form of government. The new constitution has yet to be presented to the Council for approval, and will go into effect next year if adopted.

Special committeemen for the school year were: Publicity, George Eifert, whose special task was devoted to mailing issues of the Colonnade to McBride servicemen: Right-Way, Edward Knop; Social, James Hummert; Benevolent, William Smith; Athletic, Richard Prendergast.

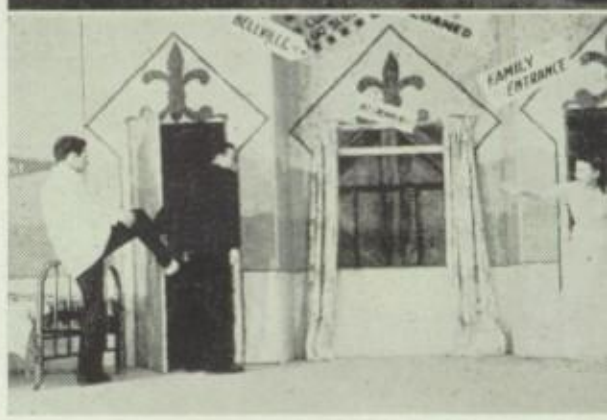
Senior Play

A movie star and trouble come to Winsocki. Bud Hooper has two dates for the same prom. Doctor Reeber, the principal, finds out about the movie star, one of Bud's dates. A riot at the dance, the pushing of the principal into a closet and other intriguing events finally resolve into a happy ending with Bud and his best girl, Helen Schlessinger, living "happily ever after." So went "Best Foot Forward," the smash hit of Broadway, Hollywood, and McBride, presented jointly by the seniors of McBride and Rosati-Kain.

Doctor Reeber, his pince-nez falling off his dignified nose, strutting across the stage in academic magnificence . . . the Blind Date stomping into the dormitory yelling in Tom-Boyish tones, "Where's Greenie? Step up and take the rap!" . . . a camera, flashbulbs, tripod and other miscellaneous photographic equipment supporting Chester Billings who shuffles his hayseed self towards Gale Joy with a foolish grin on his face . . . Hunk Hoyt, mouth hanging open and a sub-moron gleam in his eyes, gaping at the rush of events. All these recollections will bring many a chuckle to those who saw the play.

Mr. Roy McCarthy, the dramatic coach, and Brother Frank Bischof, the producer, toiled tirelessly for many weeks of gruelling rehearsals, to pull out of the quagmire one of the most successful plays given in the annals of McBride. It was due to their undying efforts that the cast played to a full house for all three performances, April 21, 23, and 25.



Top: Charles Bueter, Alice Ciborowski, Thomas Fitzgerald, Richard Prendergast, Betty Lou Talbert, Charles Feise.

Bottom: Jerry Duff, Richard Goessling, Dorothy Mueller.

DEBATING

. . they talked the judges out of a trophy.

Library Staff

The success of the library is assured by the faithful and willing service of a group of volunteer student assistants who cooperate with the faculty staff, relieving the Brothers of many of the routine duties.

Special recognition is due to Wilbert Ammann '44, who has rounded out three years of successful participation in this activity. The future of the work is made bright by the large number of freshmen who have been trained during the past year.

With the introduction of the Detroit self-charging system the process of borrowing a book was made easier. This contributed to an increase in circulation amounting to almost twenty per cent over last year. The 830 students borrowed a total of 12,452 books during the current year, an average of fifteen books each, or one book every two-and-a-half weeks per student.

Besides the popular and serious books which the students borrowed for home reading, much reference material was used in the library, and the magazines were worn with frequent use. One of the most popular periodicals was the bound set of THE COLONNADE.

LIBRARY WORKERS

Second row: Edwards, Dolan, Mayer, O'Donnell, Santen, Szydlowski, Murray, Meyer, Dougherty, Scholz, (Coll missing).

. their work has little glamour.

Debating

"Resolved: That the United States should reconstitute the League of Nations." Such was the timely topic defended by the members of this year's Orange and Green forensic team, in 40 debates with schools in the Catholic and State Leagues.

For the first time in five years, McBride's dedebaters captured the championship of the Catholic League. Although getting off to a slow start by losing two in a tournament of six debates, the squad finished with a record of fifteen wins to five losses.

Throughout the season McBride was paced by the St. Elizabeth debaters, who were the victors in three of McBride's losses. The chief satisfaction of the year, however, was the defeating of their old arch-rival, St. Louis U. High, four consecutive times.

On this year's squad, which was again under the capable direction of Brother William Cavanaugh, Lloyd Mosley, a junior, occupied a permanent berth on the affirmative and Paul Hencke, also a junior, was stationary on the negative. Three seniors, James Hummert, George Eifert, and Larry Hasenjaeger were interchanged between the negative and affirmative sides.

In the Missouri State League McBride led until the last day of the tournaments when upsets at the hands of Riverview and Jennings caused the team to finish third.

This year, for the first time in the history of McBride, the school was host to Missouri State Tournament.

Elocution

Public speaking had a banner year at school. Besides winning a debate title, the school witnessed numerous contests. There was an elocution contest in all the freshman and sophomore rooms, in which all students participated. Several winners were selected to represent the room in a further contest, and six finalists were chosen in both the freshman and the sophomore divisions. In March the final frosh contest was held before an assembly of the nine freshman classes. Bernard Naumann was awarded first place in the humorous section and William Brady in the serious. All the sophomores assembled on May 17 to hear William Gerdes win the judges' decision in the humorous division, and William Trigg in the serious division.

Speech Contests

McBride's orators were called upon for many contests during the past year. James Callahan took first place in the Marianist contest at school, second place in the Marianist interscholastic contest sponsored by the Western Catholic Union, and third place in the American Legion Oratory finals. Other winners in the school contest were Thomas Dooley, second place, and Lloyd Mosley, third.

At the Catholic Students Mission Crusade conference William Geary won a gold medal for first place in original oratory, Joseph Cusanelli, a silver medal for second place in serious interpretation, and James Eagan, a bronze medal for third in non-original oratory. Other McBride representatives were Philip Lynch, Joseph Uelhof, George Eifert, James Callahan, John Hackett, William Brady, Eugene Kohler, Robert Horgan, and Bernard Naumann.

In a state-wide contest to promote war bond sales, Paul Hencke won first place among four diocesan high schools and competed in the city finals at Southwest High.

Kornzapoppin

The orchestra climaxed a very successful year by its performance at "Kornzapoppin." The show, a musical, was put on entirely by the orchestra with the aid of a few soloists and a chorus of thirteen beautiful, brawny seniors. The first act threw the spotlight on sweet music, the second act contained everything from Bach to boogie, and the third act featured lowdown blues. Taking solos on the vocals were Harold Vandiver, Tony Badley, and Harold Richard. A special mention was made and a demonstration given to show the advantages of playing an instrument. Audience participation was called for in one number by the orchestra and the audience was the recipient of the moral of "Swingin' on a Star" as rendered by the chorus.

Orchestra

This year the orchestra, under the capable baton of Brother Louis Schuster, had a very successful season. Starting out with a group of inexperienced players, except for the sax section, Brother Louis was able to form and mould his underclassmen candidates into an A-1 orchestra. The results of a long and hard year of steady practice showed itself at the third annual "Kornzapoppin" jive-fest.

Besides swinging out at its own show, the Swing Kings were heard by friends at the senior play, "King Ko-Ko," and various other occasions. The featured numbers, such as "Knock Me a Kiss" and "St. James Infirmary," were arranged by Trombonist Charley Chewning. The orchestra also featured arrangement of such big-name bands as Harry James, Count Basie, Duke Ellington, and Woody Herman. With such solid sending, the McBride jive fans went wild and yelled for more, giving strong evidence to the boast of having the "number one school orchestra in St. Louis."

Since there will be only five returning members next year, the following members of the junior orchestra will be called upon: Saxmen Anthony Puleo and Thomas Osseck, and Trumpetmen Jack Thro and Ray Casey.

We have a hot tip straight from the feed-box, that next year the boys are going long-hair and are going to render classical selections only.

Sax-Section: Jce Kirk, Jim Hummert, Harold Vandiver, Gene Baumann.

Brass Section: Charlie Chewning, Chas. Wilscn, Dave Godfrey, Wally Bourneuf.

Rhythm Section: Eugene Cushing, Richard O'Erien, Fedro Palos, Harcld Richard, Jack Sommers.

String Section: Don Eveld, Eugene Zufall, Mark Thompson.

Glee Club

"Sing and the world sings with you" is an old adage which certainly holds true of the McBride Glee Club. Whether it be a song of rollicking rhythm or a sweet hymn of adoration, the Glee Club has the power to instill that mood into its listeners.

Under the capable direction of Brother Francis Mueller, who was ably assisted by Brother Robert Rounds, the Choristers have again attained an enviable position of vocal proficiency. Their solo appearance of the past year was before the Elks Club at their Annual Memorial Service. However, combined with Rosati-Kain and under the direction of Mr. Herbert Weiskopf, the Glee Club made two public appearances. The first was at the Catholic Music Educators State Conference held in St. Louis at the Rosati-Kain Auditorium last November. The last was at the Fontbonne Spring Music Festival where they again received a superior rating.

Operetta

Not limiting themselves to merely choral work, the Glee Club staged its own musical comedy, entitled "King Ko-Ko." A plane crash, which resulted in two American playboys arriving on a South Sea isle, and their attempts to find out whether King Ko-Ko could speak English, set the stage for riotous laughter. The love scene played by Lagoona, King Ko-Ko's daughter, and the intelligent Mr. Whizzle, brought down the house at all performances.

The comedy also provided for excellent solo work by Joseph Cusanelli, Charles Bueter, Houston Harrison, Bernard Ross, and William Gerdes. To lend variety to the show, a radio skit was presented, with little Gene Poelker crawling out on a limb with fantastic future predictions, and a riotous sound effects demonstration. Cusanelli's reading of a letter from a bus rider, rendered with proper emphasis, was one of the memorable scenes in the program of music, comedy, and excitement.

Spelling

The microphone leered at the contestants. The spellers leered back. Another monstrous word bit the dust! So went the spelling match between St. Elizabeth's Academy and McBride. Unfortunately, the team was bucking against a more experienced squad and came out on the short end of a 42-38 decision. The McBride "eight" could boast only three veterans, the others being newcomers to the game. Four seniors and four freshmen were included among their ranks: Walter Lerch, John Delabar, Wilbert Ammann, and Ulric Suiter being among the former, and Paul Mosley, James Gentry, Joseph Mercurio, and James Klocker among the latter. Brother Joseph Kneiringer was the "guiding light," with a dictionary in one hand, and a tough list of words in the other. However, an epidemic of "mike fright" among the rookies finally overcame the capable training which he had instilled into the spellers.

Colonnade

Freedom of the press as guaranteed by the first amendment of the Constitution is one of the most basic ideas of our Democratic Government. Even as a large city tabloid expresses the feelings and ideas of the people so a school newspaper expresses the happenings and desires of the student body. During the past year THE COLONNADE has lived up to these standards. It has thrown its support behind every school activity, encouraged participation in student affairs, pointed out the humorous side of school life, and most important of all it has served as a record of the doings of an active wide-awake student body.

For the sixth consecutive time THE COLONNADE has merited the National Scholastic Press Association award of ALL AMERICAN, the highest rating given by this body. Serving as the paper's guiding lights were its four editors, James Hummert, editor-in-chief, Larry Hasenjaeger, news editor; Walter Lerch, feature editor; and George Eifert, sports editor. Special Columns of this year were Lerch's HALFWITTICISMS, Hasenjaeger's Findings by the Rabbit Hunter and an Alumni at War column also handled by the news editor.

Other members of the staff were Robert Bauer, Howard Hucker, Gregory Siemer, William Geary, Paul Hencke, Eugene Kohler; James Callahan, William Dowling, Lloyd Mosley, and Eugene Cushing.

The Yearbook

Well, there you have it! The 1944 Senior Issue of the COLONNADE which you have been waiting for.

This is your yearbook. Everything contained inside these pages was put there by you of the student body. It was you who made the activities of the school fizzle with a lowly pop or go over with an explosive bang. It was you who in athletics brought home the bacon or stumbled and fell on the way. Every bit of the blood, sweat, and tears of the entire year together with all the fun and happiness portrayed here was not due to the imagination of some Jules Verne but was due to you.

All we of the staff of THE COLONNADE yearbook have done is to compile the evidence of what went on. You as the individual are the judge of our work. We hope you will enjoy this book and treasure it as a keepsake of your entire life at McBride but in particular this year of 1944, the last year of high school of the graduating class many of whom next year at this time will probably be fighting on some far away battlefield or perhaps dying on some forsaken life raft.

Spiritual

During the past year McBride students have engaged in a variety of spiritual acitivities. The school year was opened by a Mass of the Holy Ghost. Then in the latter part of October Father Brand and Father Hogan preached the annual retreat. The student body assisted at a solemn High Mass for the war dead and a Mass on Father Chaminade's feast day. A triduum was celebrated in honor of St. Joseph and a May Day celebration was held. Throughout the year students were granted time off to go to Confession, Mass and Communion on First Friday. The year was closed by graduation from the Cathedral. Various religious assemblies have been held at which talks, religious skits, etc., were presented. One can readily see that not only is Catholic training taught but that the student body lives a Catholic life, carrying out in practice the principles stressed in class.

Marianist Club

The organization through which many of the spiritual activities of McBride were carried on was the Marianist Club, a senior sodality. Members are voted into this group by their classmates and then are required to live up to certain Catholic ideals and principles outside the ordinary life of a student.

The club, in its first year, under the direction of Father Valentine Braun, has played a prominent part in the spiritual activities of the school. It sponsored a Rosary program in October. The Christmas party was under its auspices and the officers of this club led the Rosary during the Retreat. A Lenten program on the Stations of the Cross was also presented. As can be seen, spiritual benefits gained from membership in this organization are countless. An attempt is being made to extend membership to the junior class, but as yet nothing has been done. This year's sodality chairman was Jerry Duff, who was ably assisted by vice-chairman James Hummert.

C. S. M. C.

The McBride representative to the Catholic Students Mission Crusade this year was Richard Goessling, who held the same position last year. Very active in Crusade activities, Richard was the general chairman for the Speech Meet held at McBride and he was also a chairman for the Tin Can Social held at Cathedral Hall. On May 7, he, along with William Alger, Charles Betzler, and Larry Hasenjaeger, represented McBride as escorts of the maids of honor at St. Luke's Church. The occasion was the May crowning sponsored by the C.S.M.C. Other activities sponsored by the Crusade this year were a one-act play contest and the annual mission collection to which each of the student body was obliged to contribute. To represent a school like McBride in such an active society a very active student is needed. Richard filled all the requirements and showed initiative during his two years as a representative.

Football

Varsity

Football prospects looked nice and rosy for the Colonnaders this year. With eleven lettermen and six other men with practical experience returning from last year's squad, Brother Frank Gutting, the head coach, and Brother Anthony Gerhardt, his right hand man, saw a possible championship team in the candidates present at the conditioning periods held in the latter part of August. Then trouble reared its ugly head in the form of injuries. In quick succession Cronin, Duff, Erdelen, Delabar, Seguin, and Timpone, all potential first stringers, had to be placed on the injured list, crippling the team.

However, despite this drawback, the gridders rolled on to third place in the Prep League competition with a record of three wins and five losses in both league and non-league games.

Special mention should be made of the fact that Captain Charles Schwendeman was chosen for the left guard berth on the All-Prep team, and Bill Smith for the halfback spot on the second All-Prep team.

"B" Team

This year under skilled and capable coaching the Beezers waded through nine opponents to a perfect season. Out of nine contests, the squad lost none, tied none, and were scored upon only once. A heavy, hard-hitting line and a fast, snappy backfield captained by Bob Aubuchon, were able to push a score across in the first minutes of each game by the old bewhiskered sleeper play. The games were usually won by holding this early lead, but against Central Public, the junior Mickmen stepped out and amassed thirty-five points.

A very special hand should be given to these fellows for their very successful season. With such prospects for next year's varsity, Prep League, look out!

"C" Team

The Frosh learned the fundamentals of pigskin play under the capable handling of Brother Kenneth Nesbit. They put their knowledge to good practice and when the season ended they had three wins, two losses, and one tie. The tie game was with South Side and caused a deadlock with the Green Dragons for the title. In the play-off the Micks were bested; however, such spirit and fight may easily lead to a couple of Prep championships in future years.

Track

Led by Captain Bill Smith and under the guiding hands of Bro. William Cavanaugh and Bro. William Callahan, assisted by Bro. Joseph Kneiringer, the McBride track squad this year completed its most successful season since 1941. Although it lost the Prep Meet to C.B.C., it was only after a nip and tuck battle in which victory was not despaired of until the very end. McBride triumphed in the Junior Division, 50½ to 49, but lost enough points in the Senior Division to make the difference between victory and defeat. South Side garnered 34½ points, while Central Catholic finished with 9.

The squad started off the season with a heartbreaking two-point loss to Kirkwood on March 31. A week later McBride dropped the next meet to a strong Normandy team 131 1/3 to 85 2/3. However, from here on out the Mickmen began to really hit their stride and won the next three contests. Central was defeated 128 5/6 to 70 1/6. Maplewood fell, 110¼ to 106¾. The last victory of the season was over Clayton, 117 to 110.

In the District Meet McBride also did very well, finishing fifth in the Senior and fourth in the Junior division.

Special credit must be given to Captain Bill Smith who set a new record in the District 440 with a time of :50.3. He has not been defeated in the 440 dash in the past two years, including the State and District meets. Other stellar members of this year's squad include Taylor, Aloisio, Arnold, and Madden of the Seniors, and Roth, Morgenthaler, Thieme, and Crane of the Juniors.

Captains elect for next year are Eugene Arnold, of track, and Don Aloisio, of field events.

Basketball

Although it was near Christmas when the cage season opened, it seemed that Santa Claus had no packages wrapped in orange and green that looked like experienced players. McBride took the floor against Soldan with only three lettermen from last year's squad. Going from bad to worse the Irish did not snap out of their losing streak until the ninth game of the season. They finished the remaining seven games with four wins and three losses.

Public school opposition proved to be pretty stiff, for the team was able to down only Blewett, while losing seven to other fives. In the Normandy tournament, the Colonnaders advanced to the semi-finals but were stopped cold in the first round of play in the Regional Tournament.

Four of the Irish basketeers were chosen for positions on the All Prep Team. Ray Kayser was unanimous choice of the first team, while Gene Gaudio and Don Hensiek placed on the second team. Captain Bill Geary was given honorable mention. Ray Kayser was also given honorable mention on the All-District team.

B Basketball

Although the junior Colonnaders were able to finish the season with an eight and eight record, they did not fare so well in Prep League competition, garnering only one victory and that over C.B.C. However, Brother Szydlowski's boys though small, proved to be mighty in downing seven non-league opponents. Perhaps the injection of some of this young blood will furnish the added punch to the returning varsity lettermen to make a bid for the Prep championship.

C Basketball

The Ceezers paid a high price to learn the fundamentals of the game by losing eight and winning none in league play. Nevertheless, they snapped back and downed eight non-league rivals. Their coach, Brother Kenneth Nesbit, was not too disappointed with the outcome, and feels that the experience gained in these contests, along with the height of the team, will enable the group to make a fight for the B crown next year.

Kleine, Geiss, Kemper, Thro.
. . . victors in a field of 112.

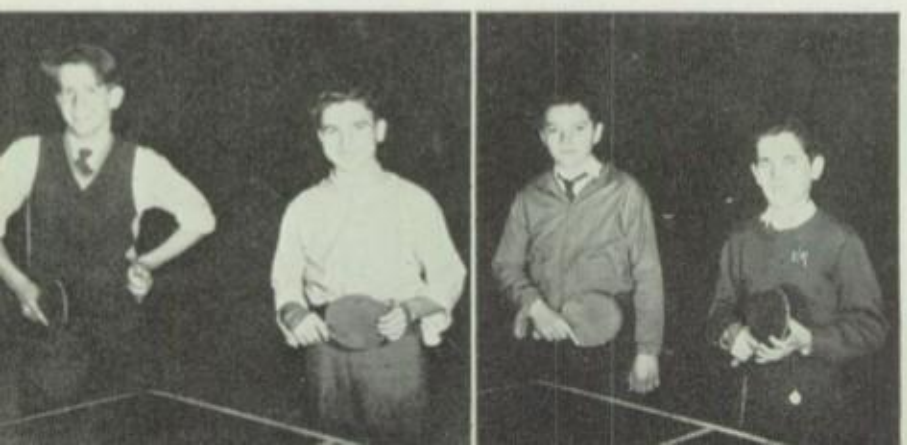

Table Tennis

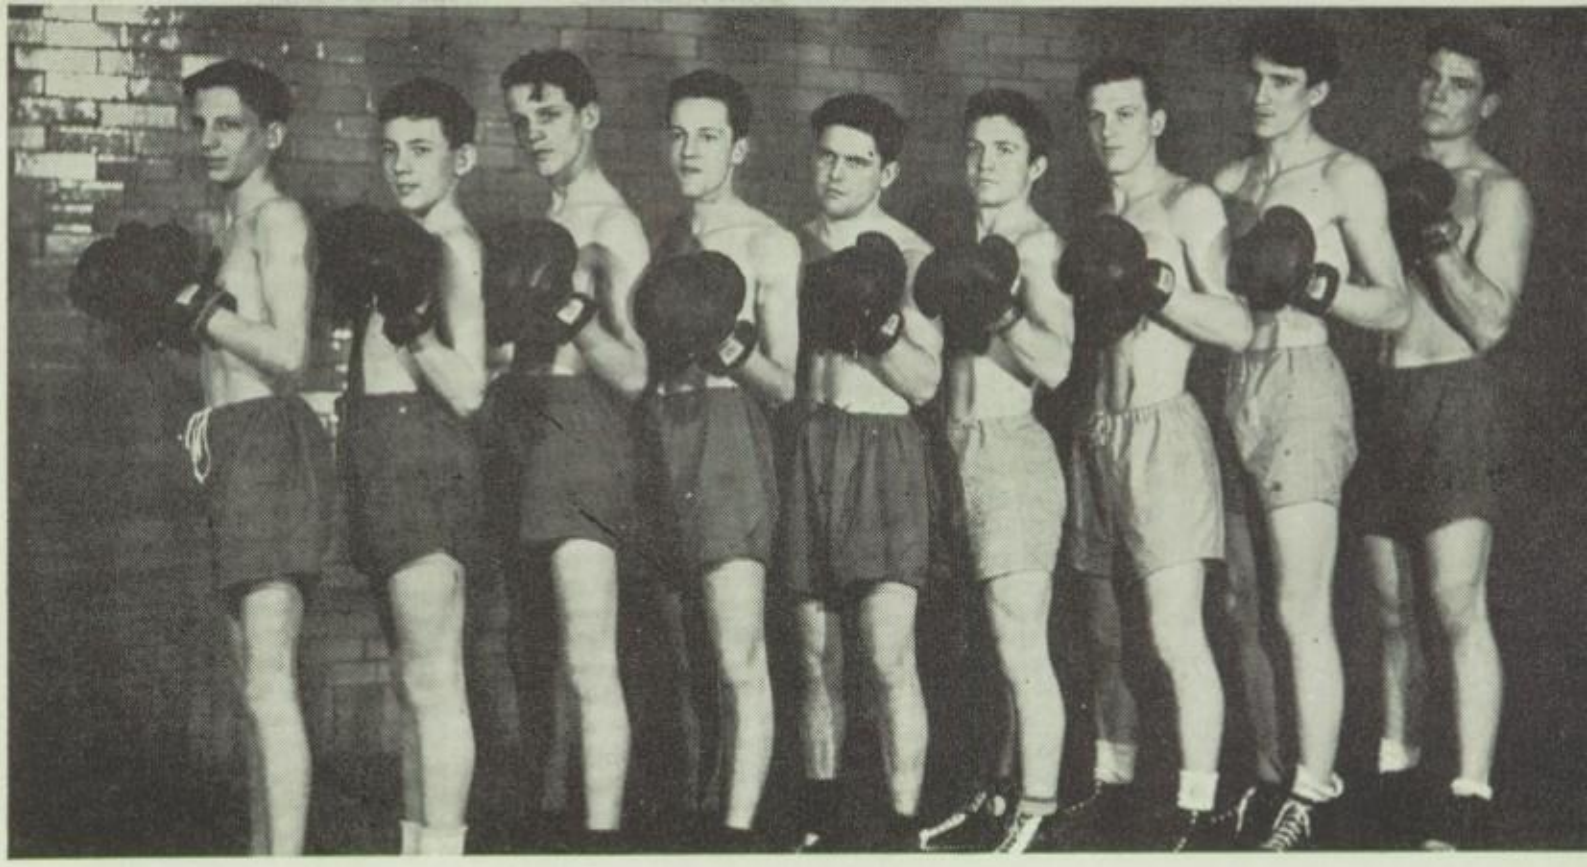
One hundred twelve paddle-wielders engaged in a contest of skill and ingenuity on four tables in the gym to determine the recipients of four medals. After two weeks of play at the close of the boxing sessions, Paul Kleine emerged victor in the junior-senior division, having defeated Richard Geiss in a close contest. Sophomore Donald Kemper defeated freshman Jack Thro in five games to win the title in the freshman-sophomore division. He lost to Kleine in the play-off for the school title.



BOXING

Richard Kopf, Jack Frain, Robert Brady, Robert Gantner, Robert Halley, Robert Auduchon, Eugene Arnold, Donald Aloisio and Eugene Pepper. (Edwin Beyer missing).
. . . they like a good scrap.

Boxing

"Kill the bum! Murder him! Knock him out!" These and other such barbaric cries rang through the gym during the sessions of the ninth annual McBride Boxing Tournament. The 125 entries were classed by weights and then seeded out until only ten emerged victorious. These canvas kings were crowned on March 25. The only boxer to retain a title was Richard Kopf, who was victorious over Naumann in the mosquito-weight division. The other champs were Halley, featherweight; Frain,paperweight; Bob Brady, flyweight; Gantner, bantamweight; Aubuchon, lightweight; Arnold, welterweight; Aloisio, middleweight; Beyer, light-heavyweight; and Pepper, heavyweight. The welterweight champ Gene Arnold scored three T.K.O.'s.

Five of the thirteen Mick maulers who made the trip to South Side emerged victorious and three of the remaining eight lost on very close decisions. The five winners were: Richard Kopf, Robert Aubuchon, Jack Frain, Robert Brady, and Jerry Shassere.

Dramatic moments like these brought the spectators to their feet cheering and howling . . . Pepper covers up as Erdelen swings rights and lefts . . . but fortune soon changes as Erdelen goes down . . . and the referee is forced to halt the match.

Tennis Team

"You can't always win them all." With but a few students reporting for daily practice the McBride tennis team had a tough time in competition this year.

Having won the Prep title for the past seven years, the netsters were known throughout the city as the "unbeatables." This year's squad lost all hope of an eighth consecutive title when they were defeated in the first contest by Central Catholic, 4 matches to 1. They went on to lose to C.B.C., 5-0 and South Side, 4-1. The members of the squad, coached by Brother Frank Bischof, were Jack Goessling, Joe Seidel, Bill O'Keeffe, Earl Handing, Rudy Kremer, Tom Stanton, and Ray Burkemper.

The team's poor showing is attributed to the fact that it did not heed the coach's advice that they play good competition as frequently as possible during the summer vacation and that they enter the various park tournaments.

Bowling

The crash of dropped bowling balls, the yells of anguish from those with mangled feet, and the sweet sound of tenpins going down in unison, quieted down from an uproar as McBride bowlers chalked up another successful year. Evenly matched teams and close fights characterized the season, the Gutterballs finally nosing out the Wolves.

Jerry Duff captured the honor of being high man for one game with a score of 221. William Endejan bowled the high three game total, with a 529 mark. Bob Prendergast came very close to this score with 526.

Jerry Reiser deserves much credit for his activities in bowling this year. It was his duty to tabulate all the averages, high games, etc.

Student participation in the sport is becoming more and more pronounced. Fifty students were attracted to the alleys to try their luck and skill this year.

Softball

With the return of three lettermen and a few other experienced men from last year's co-championship squad, the Micks looked on the Prep Softball trophy with covetous eyes. The team did duplicate last year's performance, tying South Side, each having a 7-2 record of wins. But this year the teams decided to play off the tie and McBride found itself on the short end of a 10-3 score.

Despite its loss of the title the team had some real 1-A ball players in Captain Dick Prendergast, Pitcher Joe Roller, who won five games, and Don Hensiek, all lettermen from last year. John Caito, regular first sacker, Tom Welby, outfielder, and Prendergast all had batting averages above the .300 mark, while Bob Bell, Bill Dolan, Tom Corcoran, and Jerry Shasserre starred in the field. Five members of the first string line-up will be back again next year to form a strong nucleus around which to build another title contender.

The squad was coached by Bro. Kenneth Nesbit, who worked hard to instill into the team the aggressive spirit it showed.

Richard Prendergast and John Caito.

Don Hensiek and Thomas Corcoran.

. their only jinx was South Side.

Soccer

With such a cross-section of players from the Muny and C.Y.C. soccer leagues as attend McBride, the Colonnaders looked like the team to beat in the city-wide high school soccer tournament. In the first game the Orange and Green eleven downed an experienced Hadley squad by a 1-0 score. They went on to roll over a highly-touted Chaminade team, 4-0. The city finals with St. Louis High ended in a 1-1 tie. In the re-play, however, St. Louis won the match by a 2-1 score.

High scorer for the Colonnaders was Bob McEneny with three goals. Other scorers were Joe Roller, Ed Flynn, and Bill Siemer, who accounted for the other five goals. Much credit for the team's success is due to the coach, Mr. William Brady.
